

THE ARROWHEAD FOR 1949

Published by THE SENIOR CLASS
of
Burlington High School

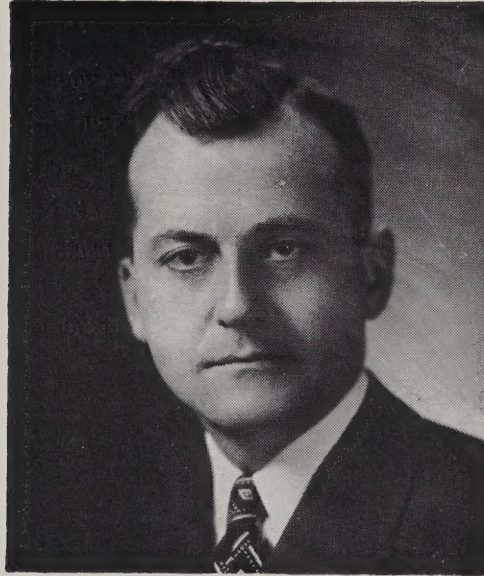

Dedication

The Senior Class Yearbook is respectfully dedicated to Mrs. Royal S. Adams and Miss Rose E. Chiesa.

We, the Senior Class, wish to express our thanks to Mrs. Adams for her sympathetic guidance during our years in junior high, and for her untiring assistance in all our extra-curricular activities.

To Miss Chiesa, we express our gratitude and appreciation for the help she extended us as our class adviser for three years. Her kindly understanding and patience will never be forgotten.

TO THE SENIORS :

To the Class of 1949 I offer my heartiest congratulations for a job well done. You have impressed me as a class with a wonderful cooperative spirit, eager to make a success of any undertaking. If you, as individuals, carry this determination into your future fields of endeavor, your life, I feel sure, will be a successful and happy one.

In return for your many favors to me, feel free to call upon me for any assistance I may be able to render.

"Last But Not Least"

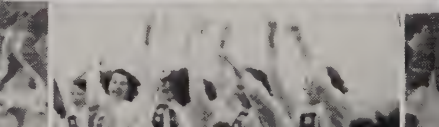

GERARD SWEENEY

We, the members of the Senior Class, would be remiss if we neglected to mention one more member of the Class of '49. Gerard Sweeney, who has left us to serve his country in the United States Marine Corps, may not be sitting with us on graduation night, but he will always be counted among the graduates. His good humor, pleasant personality, and all the happy moments we spent with him will remain a living memory. We wish you success in all your undertakings, Gerard, and are proud to say that we are your friends.

With deepest sincerity,

THE SENIOR CLASS

Class Poem

As we look back on our school years,
There's sadness in each heart.
We now must follow different paths
Though grieved that we must part.

With unsure steps we venture forth
To start our own careers.
The world holds hope and promise of Both happiness and tears.

We've reached a milestone in our lives,
A crossroad of decisions.
We can but pray that He Who guides
Will watch o'er all our missions.

Randall Hurley

Class Song

We, as Seniors, now depart
From dear old Burlington High,
With mixed emotions in each heart
And a glimpse of tears in each eye.

Each down the road of life shall go
To struggle toward his goal.
We'll find success and happiness
Through the helping hand of God.

C H O R U S

We bid a very fond adieu
To all our friends so true.
The days we've spent with you are o'er
But fond memories linger evermore.

History of the Class of '49

ON a crisp September morning twelve years ago, the school bell once again called to the children of Burlington. It was on this day that we, who are members of the graduating class, were escorted to the "Little School", to experience our first day at school. Little did we realize that day, that we were destined to be known as the "Forty-niners". Even though we were unmindful of this, we, like our historical ancestors were also searching. We were in search, not of gold, but of knowledge.

Our grammar school days rolled by as did the summer vacations. Before we realized it, six years had gone by, and we had completed our first step in the ladder of education. This was climaxed by our graduation exercises, which took place at the high school. During the summer, we eagerly awaited the opening of school, and our first day in the high school building.

We were a large class when we entered the portals of Burlington High as seventh graders. Like our successors, we felt a little strange and confused. Each of us had his time with locker combinations, room numbers, books and new regulations. Under the firm, yet friendly guidance of Miss Andrews we soon overcame these difficulties, and began to feel at home at Burlington High. The year passed by and soon it was vacation time again.

Returning as eighth graders, we found ourselves a little more confident than we had been the year before. Through the influential guidance and helping hand of Mrs. Adams, we were put on the road that has always made our class successful in all it has undertaken. We shall always remember all Mrs. Adams did for us through her help and advice while she was with us. It was under her supervision that we staged a number of successful plays during this year.

As Freshmen, we moved upstairs and gained some of the accompanying prestige. It was during our Freshman year that our class gained four new members. The newcomers were Robert Daly, Francis Meaney, Alfred Michaud and Gerard Sweeney. They were not regarded as newcomers for long, and each very quickly became one of the class. A wonderful sense of humor, and a friendly personality were the characteristics in each of these boys which added a great deal to the spirit of the class.

As Sophomores, we had Miss Chiesa as our class adviser. Since this was our first year of social functions, we were in need of advice and help. We shall always remember and appreciate all Miss Chiesa did for us during this year in helping to make it successful socially as well as financially.

Returning as Juniors, we were glad to find that Miss Chiesa was to be our class adviser for another year. We welcomed Charles Rupprecht into our class during this year, and he too became a friend of all very quickly. It was also in this year that Gerard Sweeney left to serve in the United States Marine Corps. It was during our Junior year that we, as a class, were most successful. Our dances were well attended, and with this success as a basis we planned a Junior Prom. After much hard work and planning, we made the Junior Prom a reality. It will be one of the school day memories which will linger for years to come. Our Junior year ended and we found that we had completed our most successful year at Burlington High.

Summer vacation soon passed by, and we returned for our last year at Burlington High. We realized that much work and many decisions were before us. With the co-operation of each member, and the true class spirit which has always been ours, we accomplished the work of our Senior year.

We have now completed our high school days, and are prepared to meet life's challenge. Though the days we've spent together have now passed, we shall continue down life's roadway with memories of twelve happy years spent together.

Prophecy

Do you believe that dreams come true? Are they prophecies of things to come or only figments of an over-wrought imagination? What interpretation would you apply to the following episode which materialized from the haze surrounding one of my infrequent detention hall daydreams?

I was sitting in Room 206, Burlington High School, Burlington, Massachusetts, in the year 1949. As usual, I was hard at work gazing out the window at the distant hills, energetically thinking about nothing. Suddenly, I snapped to attention! Outlined against the hills and trees were some shadowy forms which gradually took shape and evolved into the following vision which floated before my astonished eyes.

I saw myself in 1959 walking down a dark, dismal Burlington highway. Before me loomed a sign which read, "Boisterous banquet and rollicking reunion sponsored by the Class of '49." The neon lights on the billboard proclaimed to the world that a number of celebrities would be presented at this celebration. Gazing at this lighted billboard, I saw that the music for this fabulous affair was to be furnished by the "Gustafson Get Up and Go Orchestra." The two Hurley brothers, who had risen to fame as accomplished vocalists, were to render a number of vocal selections. William, it seemed, had taken the place of Bing Crosby, and Randall was, in turn, known as the second Nelson Eddy. My attention was drawn from the neon lights by the sound of a car coming to a stop. Upon turning around, I saw that a sleek, black '59 Cadillac had stopped beside the curb. On closer observation I saw that the woman at the wheel was Dorothy Norden. Dot told me that she was the chauffeur for this reunion, and that the car belonged to Blanche Murray. Blanche had become "Queen of the Midget Autos," but the Cadillac was her own private car. I realized, as we drove along toward Burlington High that the class spirit and cooperation had not died even though ten years had passed.

Next I found myself at B. H. S. The door of the car was opened by a tall, dark and handsome fellow, who of course was Dick Garibotto. Dick and I found plenty to talk about as we went up to the fourth floor in the newly installed elevator. I realized that the school had been enlarged to meet the needs of the town's growing population.

Upon entering the new auditorium, I was welcomed by our secretary, Mabel Johnson. Immediately I became engaged in conversation with one and then another of my former classmates. From these bits of conversation I learned a great deal about what some of the '49'ers had accomplished in ten years' time.

Regretfully I learned that George Charette and Ed Kindred had turned to crime. They were known respectively as "The Masher" and "The Chopper". Ernest Taylor, who was Chief of the F. B. I. (Food for Babies Inc.) was on their trail in order to get them here for the banquet. The names were derived from the fact that George operated a potato masher, and Ed, a food chopper at the F. B. I. factory. It seemed that they were on vacation in Connecticut at this time.

From another bit of conversation, I found that some of the '49'ers had become big businessmen. Burton Betts and Robert MacKenzie were the owners of the "Betts and MacKenzie Circus." They had employed some of their former classmates, and because the circus was in town, all were present at the banquet. Marian Carpenter had become known as "The Lady of the Tightrope." Jean Crogan, the best lion trainer in the United States, was called "Lady of the Cats." Chicky Meaney had a steady job feeding the elephants. Al Michaud and Henry Lowther had likewise become big businessmen. Since Burlington had become a runner-up to New York as a fashion center, they had established their dress designing company on Broadway in Burlington. They too had some of their former classmates in their employ. Bob Sheerin was the leading designer of women's dresses. Lorraine Nelson and June Duncan were the skillful seamstresses who did all the dress making.

After having this opportunity to chat for awhile, we were invited to go to the banquet hall for a delicious dinner. When everyone was seated at the table, two waitresses began to serve the meal. I recognized these two girls as Bea Kendall and Winnie French. I was told that these two girls work in a very "swank" restaurant owned by the tall gentleman who had just entered. I recognized this man as William Wallace. After the delicious meal was over, I found myself once again in the auditorium.

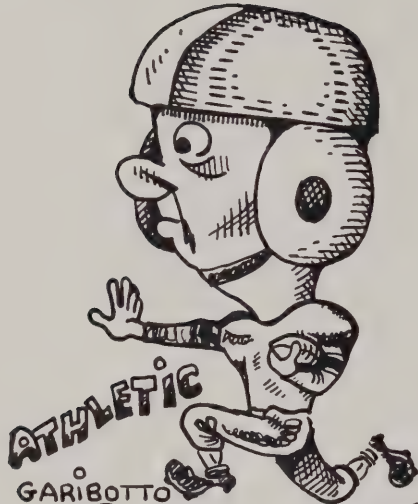

The orchestra began to play, the lights on stage went on and the spot-light flashed on a tall fellow at center stage. He introduced himself as none other than Chuck Rupprecht, who was to be master of ceremonies for the evening. He told us that a number of the '49'ers had volunteered to entertain us for the evening. Barbara Oldford, Margaret Rogers, Ruth Matto and Claire Colley, with the aid of Bob Daly, the ladies' man, did a snappy dance routine. Bob and the girls danced at the "Tread Mill" which was owned by Barbara and Margaret. We were honored by hearing from the Hurley Brothers who rendered a number of popular vocal selections. The entertainment came to a close with everyone singing "The Song of Burlington", which was written by two famous song writers, Lillian Plummer and Eleanor Schwartz. The accompaniment was furnished by Evelyn Plummer and Barbara Pattison, "The Duettes", at the piano. At the close of the evening Chuck announced that he had accepted the position as head coach of Burlington High.

The shadowy forms are beginning to fade now, yet I can see a fellow in overalls, with a broom in his hands working very diligently cleaning up after this wonderful affair. Who can it be? Why it is none other than John Maguire, who has taken over for Mr. Johnson, now retired. The shadowy forms continue to fade, and suddenly as the bell signifying the end of detention rings, I realize that I am still hard at work gazing out the window at the distant hills. It has all been a dream, yet it is all a matter of opinion as to whether dreams come true or not. Nevertheless, I prophesy that the class spirit and cooperation of the Class of '49 shall continue on as we travel down the road of life.

WE, the miners, called "Forty-niners", before saying "Adios", dig up our most cherished possessions, deposit them in a wheelbarrow and hand them over to the Junior Class as a remembrance of the Class of '49.

I, Burton Betts, leave my literature ability to any Junior whom it may interest.

I, Marian Carpenter, leave to any capable Junior the job of selling lunch tickets. Don't fight over it now. It isn't worth it.

I, George Charette, leave my book entitled "1001 Reasons for Not Getting Detention", to the Junior Class. Please use it to the best of your ability.

I, Claire Colley, leave my curlers to Josephine Johnson. Hope you use them more than I do.

I, Jean Crogan, leave the back end of the Ford to Harold Small.

I, Bob Daly, leave many friends behind hoping they will soon follow.

I, June Duncan, leave to Joanne Foster the ability to be first in line for lunch. I think you better be a traffic officer, Joanne.

I, Winnifred French, leave my history class forever.

I, Richard Garibotto, leave my shoes (size 12) to Louis Beard.

I, Lennart Gustafson, leave my Pontiac to Bob Bunton. I know you will keep it in good condition. Take the best care of it, Bob.

I, Randall Hurley, leave to John Moglia my well combed hair. Keep it that way, John.

I, William Hurley, do hereby will and bequeath my title, "The number one locker room singer", to Richie Swanson.

I, Mabel Johnson, leave to Janet Williams my high chair in the Lab. Try and keep it, Janet.

I, Beatrice Kendall, leave Mr. Thomas, my nicest teacher, to Barbara Jackson.

I, Ed Kindred, leave my ability to get out of homework to Ed Pederson.

I, Henry Lowther, will to Holden Bennett my black wavy hair.

I, Robert MacKenzie, leave my scholastic abilities plus my nickname given to me by a member of last year's class. Does any Junior want to be called "Steamboat"?

I, John Maguire, leave my ability to get along with the teachers to Bobby Gentile. Keep the detention hall alive, Bob.

I, Ruth Matto, leave my muscle to Robert Wallace to help defend himself against his brother.

I, Chick Meaney, leave my on-again, off-again romances to Freddie Graham who needs them most.

I, Alfred Michaud, leave my faith and trust in Jackie Kinneen so that he can take care of Irene for me.

I, Evelyn Miller, leave to David Piper my ability to be in all classes ten minutes early.

I, Blanche Murray, leave by the teachers' entrance. If I get caught, I leave the detention to Carlene Powers.

I, Lorraine Nelson, leave my ability to catch a man to Charlene Ganley.

I, Dorothy Norden, leave all my "F's" to any Junior who can use them.

I, Barbara Oldford, do hereby leave to Kathryn Carey my ability to get on the teachers' nerves by my Oh's, Ah's, sighs and groans. Keep up the good work, Kay!!

I, Barbara Pattison, leave to Ruth Dupee my fancy colored glasses. Be careful of them, and don't break them, Ruthie.

I, Lillian Plummer, leave to Charles Gillis my ability to get my homework done without much effort.

I, Margaret Rogers, leave my place on the honor roll (vacant as it has always been), to Lorraine Crockett.

I, Chuck Rupprecht, leave my calling card at Julie's. I shall be calling often.

I, Eleanor Schwartz, leave my ability to blush whenever the name "Bill" is mentioned to any Junior.

I, Robert Sheerin, leave all my detention, which has accumulated through my high school years, to Billy Carrol.

I, Ernest Taylor, leave to Bert Kelly my women troubles.

I, William Wallace, leave my ability to get along with Mr. Murray to Billy Kindred.

We, the class of One Thousand Nine-Hundred and Forty-Nine, being of sound mind and body do hereby sign and seal this last will and testament in the presence of responsible witnesses.

ACTIVITIES

Row 3 — D. Plummer, R. MacKenzie, E. Johnson, J. Merrigan.

Row 2 — Mr. Murray, R. Daly, A. Kelley, D. Piper, J. Pattison, C. Rupprecht, R. Buntton, G. Charette, E. Collins, J. Galipeau, Mr. Horton.

Row 1 — F. Graham, J. Casey, F. Colley, E. Pedersen, R. Sheerin, J. Maguire, J. Kinneen, E. Kindred, R. Garibotto.

Despite a poor start in the first game, the Burlington football squad did a wonderful job this year and ended up the season with six wins and four losses.

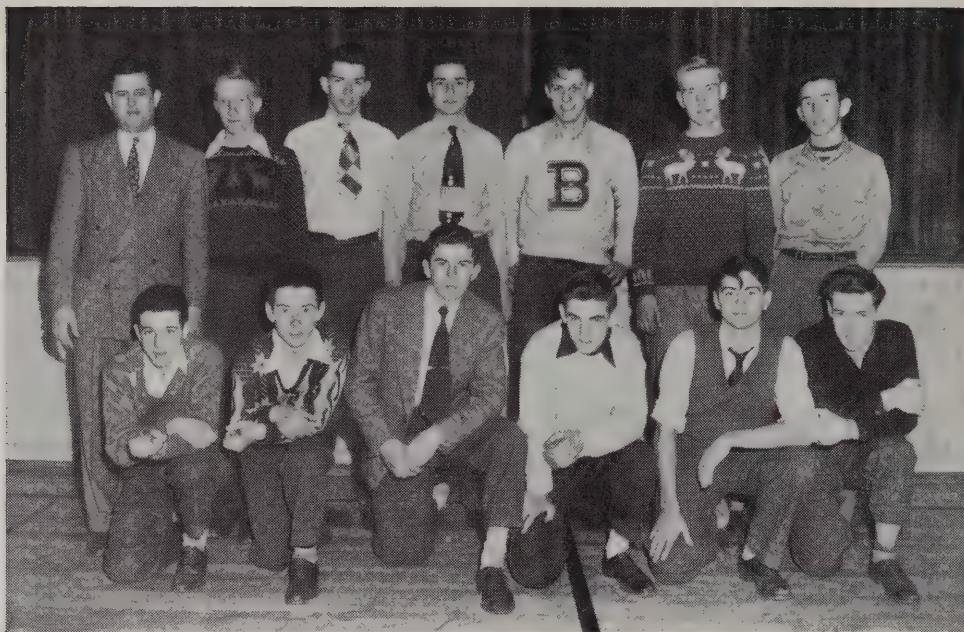

Under the capable coaching of Mr. Murray, the team improved steadily and gave its opponents plenty to worry about. Burlington went scoreless only in the first game and then began operating as a cooperative unit. Urged on by the co-captains, Ed Pedersen and Bob Sheerin, they managed to outscore their opponents 153 points to 104 points.

The season was one of the most successful Burlington has experienced, and we are proud of our team with good reason.

Baseball Team

Row 2 — Mr. Murray, R. MacKenzie, J. Kinneen, R. Garibotto, C. Rupprecht, F. Graham, A. Johnson.

Row 1 — J. Moglia, E. Johnson, G. Charette, A. Kelley, R. Sheerin, J. Casey.

Once again our commentary on the 1949 baseball season is necessarily based on fact, hope and faith. We know for a fact that the school contains some very promising material out of which a capable team should develop.

We naturally hope that the boys will experience such a remarkable winning streak that opposing teams will shake with dismay and trepidation when the name Burlington is mentioned.

We have complete faith that, win or lose, our baseball club, under the capable direction of Coach Murray, will be deserving of cheers.

Girls' Basketball

Row 2 — Miss Welch, B. Baumgarten, N. Blenkhorn, H. Marinacci, J. Williams, J. Foster, B. Murray.

Row 1 — M. Johnson, E. Miller, L. Plummer, E. Schwartz, R. Matto, B. Kendall.

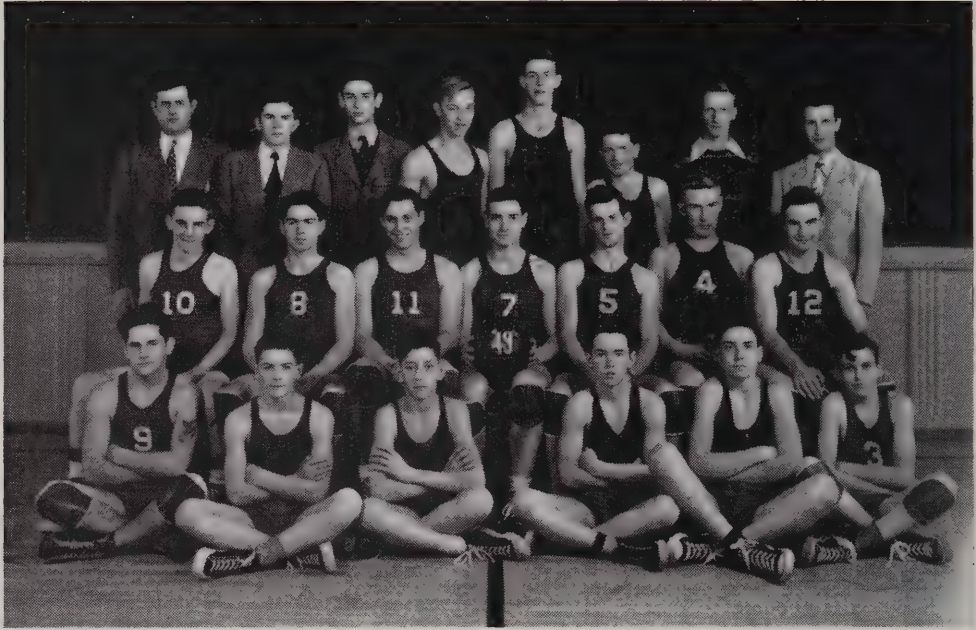

In spite of a non-spectacular season, the members of the 1949 girls' basketball team remained an enthusiastic group in which the spirit of sportsmanship was outstanding. We all know that in almost every game there has to be a loser, and often a loss reveals the innate character of a team better than any victory. It is not always easy to be a cheerful loser and we may well be proud of the spirit with which the team accepted disappointment.

At any rate, no opposing team surpassed the Burlington girls in appearance. The new uniforms and warm-up jackets were most effective.

The scores of the 1949 games were as follows:

	Burlington 7	Alumnae 20	Jan. 28	Burlington 23	Johnson 27
Jan. 7	Burlington 14	Johnson 23	Feb. 1	Burlington 18	Dracut 14

Under the direction of Coach Murray, Burlington High School turned out a very good team for a small school.

Captain "Dick" Garibotto and his team outscored their opponents 894 points to 845 points. One game was played in the Boston Arena and two at the Small Schools Tournament.
